

"In the year that King Uzziah died I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up; and His train filled the temple." Isaiah 6:1

The opening verse of Isaiah's call to be a prophet tells us a great deal about his faith and the faith we all should have.

It was in the year that King Uzziah died. The death of a king was a tremendous crisis. We benefit from living in the USA and having an orderly transfer of power, even when tragedy strikes. Not so in the ancient age. Intrigue, assassinations, foreign incursions were all the norm during this tumultuous time.

In addition to the national unrest, King Uzziah's death may have been a personal loss for Isaiah as well. Throughout his prophecy we find hints that Isaiah was a religious leader, respected in the priestly hierarchy, and thus well-known to the royal family. Isaiah was not only worried about the uncertainty of his country, he also mourned the loss of a friend.

Now notice two more things about this single verse. First, Isaiah was in the temple. He was in the right place, worshiping God and seeking direction and solace from Him. In worship you encounter God in a special way. Isaiah did not fling away from his faith when life got tough. Instead, he embraced it even more closely. So we should never neglect to worship God.

Second, he saw the Lord high and lifted up. This marvelous vision of God's greatness came at a time of personal weakness. Resist using circumstances as a gauge of God's power and providence. God will always use challenges to refocus you on Him, if you allow Him. In that process you will discover in a new and deeper way that God is Lord of all, just as He is Lord of your life.

Whatever change or challenge you face right now, rest assured that God is great and will reveal that to you in a special way. So stay faithful. Seek a vision like Isaiah's. Trust God to order and provide.

Grace,
Terry Ellis
