

“Welcome, Summer”

“I am Summer, come to lure you away from your computer... come dance on my fresh grass, dig your toes into my beaches.” - Oriana Green

You can feel the difference a season makes, can't you? The first day of summer is this week, Wednesday, June 21. Especially if you hail from the northern regions of the hemisphere, when summer arrives, you can feel the difference outdoors. A shedding occurs: the shedding of coats and the shedding of an old school year. In Baton Rouge, it's more accurate to say the shedding of sweaters! Nevertheless, summer comes and with it comes changes: time changes, everything seems to slow down; routines change, and we get “lured away,” as Oriana Green puts it, lured away to work in the garden, lured away to visit family, lured away to the swimming pool, lured away to go on vacation, lured away to enjoy the beach . . . “dig your toes into my beaches,” Green invites.

In the summer we bring those changes into the church and we see summer in our activities: youth mission camps, children's music camps, the cancelling of meetings, and smaller crowds. The new demands and warmer opportunities compete for our time and energy. Many of us will take off on long trips and get in a vacation or two. We may go fishing, golfing, camping, visiting, swimming, or a number of other fun, summer-time activities. You can feel the difference a season makes, can't you?

One thing that won't change: we will continue to worship on Sundays, meet for bible study in Sunday School, plan church family events, provide VBS, meet for support and prayer, visit the sick, read our Bibles, and make plans for fall. Although our routines may change, the church will continue to be the church. Our doors will be open, the lights will be on, and the ministry will continue.

What a difference a season makes! We need summer. We need to go. But as you go, as you are lured away from your computer, as you dance on the fresh grass, and dig your toes into summer beaches, remember to join us when you come back. Invite your friends and neighbors, study, worship, serve, and pray with us. The church will be here. Winter or summer.
