Dr. Holleyman preaching

Last week Paul, Dave and I had the opportunity to attend the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship General Assembly with our wives. It was the first time in many many years that our church staff was able to go as a group. We would like to thank the members of Broadmoor for allowing us the time to attend the Assembly for a time of worship, workshops, and gracious fellowship.

The following in an excerpt by Carrie McGuffin and Aaron Weaver shared from the CBF Blog. You can read the whole article, and many more like it on www.cbfblog.com. It's a great way to follow the work of CBF National and local churches. On the opening night of the CBF 25th Anniversary General Assembly in Greensboro, N.C. —Emory University homiletics professor Tom G. Long told more than 2,400 Cooperative Baptists that “Making us be able to hear the Gospel and preach it is hard work,”

Reading from the Gospel of Mark, Dr. Long shared the story of the healing of a deaf and blind man, and offered reflections on the human condition. He emphasized that we are all this blind and deaf man. This deafness, Long explained, is that we cannot hear the Gospel, and when we cannot hear it, we in turn cannot speak it.

“I know what it would take for me to hear the Gospel,”

Long said. “It would take a miracle — and that is what we get. That is why Jesus encountered the man that is deaf like me and mute like me.”

This hard-working Jesus, Long added, is the Jesus characteristic of the Gospel of Mark — one who is sweating, grunting, pushing and pulling, and one who is opening ears and eyes, rebuking and denouncing, exorcising demons in every situation and tearing against the chaos of powers and principalities. These same powers and principalities that Jesus faced are those we face today as we see the chaos and tragedy all around us. These are the moments churches and leaders are facing, with a need for a hard-working Jesus, Long said.

“You are all involved in ministry. You're involved in good ministry, but you are involved in hard ministry too. Your ministry is up against the powers and principalities. But the one who is working the very hardest is Jesus Christ, walking alongside us every day.”

Thank you for all the hard work you do in the ministry of Broadmoor Baptist Church. There is still work to be done in God's kingdom and through God's people. It's a joy for all of us to serve alongside each of you.

Bobby

Pastor Search Committee Report

At the very beginning of the search process, our intentions were clear: Our mission is to find the pastor our congregation needs and deserves: someone who will lead us boldly into the future while respecting who we are and preserving the legacy that defines us; who will love and care for us during our journey together and who will accept and treasure our love in return; and who will be a living example of God's grace to the entire Baton Rouge community.

At this point, after prayerfully considering over 100 candidates, the Holy Spirit has led us to narrow our focus to a significantly smaller number. Our next step is to conduct video conferences with each of the remaining candidates. I am pleased to report that these men and women all meet the criteria we were led to establish in the beginning. Our task now is to discern THE ONE who is best equipped to lead our Broadmoor Renaissance. Now, more than ever, pray for us—and for these folks whose lives we hold in our hands.
