"He Restores Your Soul"

The wife began her story, "I shall never forget Frank's face as he walked through our front door that evening. . . . It was quite gray and utterly defeated." He had been terminated, made redundant is the way the company termed it.

He immediately began searching for work but was rebuffed everywhere. "He was willing to do any work at all . . . but no one wanted him. It hurt me to see a man usually so full of vigor and ideas just silently helping me with the housework or sitting and staring aimlessly into space."

This story came to mind lately as I was reflecting on the most familiar passage in the Bible, Psalm 23. I had recently read it at the graveside of a dear old saint who was laid to rest in the cemetery at a Louisiana crossroad. She had lived a good and faithful life, full of the same kind of chapters we all have written. Some wonderful. Others devastating. Her story is ours.

David had the same kind of story, full of victories that would be told for thousands of years, and scandals so nefarious that you question how this could be "a man after God's own heart."

In the dusk of his life David looked back on all of life and saw a constant thread of grace holding together the tapestry. So he wrote, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He makes me lie down in green pastures. He leads me beside still waters. He restores my soul."

He restores my soul. Say it personally. We have all been wounded. Each one of us limps. You don't always get the job. You don't always get the girl. You don't always get the healing. But you always receive grace. He always restores the soul.

Now let's finish Frank's story. After a great deal of prayer and endurance Frank came up with the idea of starting his own business. The plan proved sound and the crisis was surmounted. His wife ended her testimony in this way, "I do not know why Frank lost his job. I do not know why he is doing well now. But I do know that I can trust God. . . . And that He can give, even in the blackest moments, hope."

Grace,
Terry Ellis

Deacon Ministries of Broadmoor Baptist

Hospital Visitation Ministry

This deacon led ministry is one of the most active of all the deacon ministries. Every day of the week, at least 2 deacons are reaching out to provide a caring presence along with love and support to church members and their family during a time of need. Of course, this ministry succeeds only when we know who's in the hospital. Please call the church office at 927-5454 if you—or someone you know—could benefit from this ministry.
